The AILET 2027 admission announcement covers the B.A. LL.B. (Hons.) and one-year LL.M. programmes at NLU Delhi. The same examination date and timing apply to the notified AILET programmes unless the university issues a later change.

How to Download the AILET 2027 Admit Card

Follow these steps to download:

1. Open the official NLU Delhi website.
2. Open the AILET 2027 candidate or application login page.
3. Log in using the registered email address or other credentials linked to your application account.
4. Find the “Download Admit Card” option on the dashboard.
5. Download the PDF and check that it opens properly.
6. Print the admit card clearly. Keep at least two copies for the examination and travel.

The university’s official notice mentions the first two essential actions: log in to the AILET Application Account and select “Download Admit Card.” If the website is slow, use a stable internet connection and try again after a short interval. Do not create a new application or make random changes to the account because the admit-card problem may be caused by traffic or an incorrect login credential.

Details to Check Immediately after Downloading

Check the following details on the AILET 2027 admit card:

- Candidate name and photograph
- Roll number or application number
- Exam date and timing
- Reporting instructions, if printed
- Test-centre name and complete address
- Category or other candidate details, where shown
- Photograph, signature and barcode or other identification details
- Instructions concerning stationery and prohibited items

If the photograph, name, roll number or test-centre details appear incorrect, contact NLU Delhi through the official helpdesk immediately. The university lists 011-40787555 as the helpdesk number and ailetsupport@nludelhi.ac.in as the general support email. Take and Keep a screenshot of the error and retain your application details while making the complaint.

Documents to Carry on AILET 2027 Exam Day

- The printed admit card is the essential entry document. Candidates should also carry a valid original government-issued photo identity document, such as the identity document used or accepted under the instructions printed on the hall ticket.
- It is also practical to carry two recent passport-size photographs matching the application photograph.
- Do not carry anything that the admit-card instructions prohibit. In particular, leave mobile phones, smartwatches, Bluetooth devices, calculators, books and loose study material outside the examination hall unless the university expressly permits an item.

AILET 2027 Exam-Day Guide

Use this short checklist on exam day:

- Reach the centre well before the reporting time printed on the admit card.
- Check the route and travel time in advance.
- Carry the printed admit card, original photo ID and reserve photographs.
- Carry only the stationery permitted in the hall-ticket instructions.

- Do not carry mobile phones, smartwatches, Bluetooth devices, calculators, books or loose study material unless expressly permitted.
- Remember that the examination is offline, lasts two hours and has 0.25 marks of negative marking for each wrong answer.
- Read the question-paper and OMR instructions before answering.
- Fill the OMR bubbles carefully and avoid stray marks.
- Do not spend too long on one question. Make sure to keep time for final checking.
- Follow only official updates from NLU Delhi and avoid unauthorised admission agents.

PwD Candidates, Scribes and Compensatory Time

PwD candidates should note the following:

- Upload the required scribe details and supporting documents through the AILET account within the deadline. The official admit-card notification states 3 December 2026 for candidates requiring a scribe.
- Eligible candidates may receive 40 minutes of compensatory time, calculated at 20 minutes per hour.
- Carry a valid disability certificate on the examination day.
- Arrange your own scribe or request NLU Delhi to provide one, as permitted under the prescribed procedure.
- Candidates with a writing difficulty may need the prescribed writing-disability certificate.
- Use assistive devices only where permitted and recorded under the applicable guidelines.
- Resolve scribe and accessibility issues before the exam day.
