AILET

Reports of CLAT 2022 Mismanagement Across Centres in India

Mrinaal Datt · 19 Jun 2022

As the exam goes underway, reports of CLAT 2022 mismanagement are coming from across centres in India. The CLAT Consortium is already under fire for holding the exam during the Agnipath protests. Many students have not been able to reach their examination centres.

However, it seems like the woes of students simply don't end there. Students who have managed to actually reach the exam centres are in no better position.

Many aspirants and their parents have taken to social media to bring out their plight:

> There is tremendous confusion among students and parents regarding the CLAT centres in Thane. I have seen as many as 15 students running frantically from one centre to another as both the centres have the same name and are 1 km apart.#CLAT2022 @CLATalogue_ — □□□□□ □□□ (@_EkBharatiya_) June 19, 2022

> @Jaipur_Manipal poor administration at clay arrangements. Student kept in rain forn30 minute. Not allowed in campus. Parents were not allowed to use washrooms.#clat2022 — SATYA N CHECHANI (@satyanchechani) June 19, 2022

> Ignore your problems the way CLAT Consortium ignores aspirants□□#CLAT2022 #AgnipathProtests — Anirvan Samantaray (@Anirvan_15) June 19, 2022

The 'CLAT 2022 mismanagement' is a developing story. Stay connected with CLATalogue for the latest updates.