BLOGS

CLAT 2027 Admit Card Release: Date, Download Steps, Documents & Exam Day Guide

Shruti chauhan · 21 Nov 2026

CLAT 2027 ADMIT CARD RELEASED

The CLAT 2027 admit card is the single most important document you need for the Common Law Admission Test. The Consortium of National Law Universities has released the hall ticket today, on 21 November 2026. It is live, you can download it from the official website, consortiumofnlus.ac.in.

DOWNLOAD YOUR ADMIT CARD FROM HERE

Detail	Information
Exam name	Common Law Admission Test (CLAT) 2027
Conducting body	Consortium of National Law Universities
Exam date	Sunday, 6 December 2026
Exam timing	2:00 PM to 4:00 PM (2 hours)
Mode	Offline (pen and paper) at designated centres
Admit card release	21 November, 2026
Official website	consortiumofnlus.ac.in
Marking scheme	+1 for each correct answer, −0.25 for each wrong answer

How to Download the CLAT 2027 Admit Card (Step by Step)

1. Open the official website: consortiumofnlus.ac.in.
2. Click the CLAT 2027 candidate login link.

3. Sign in with your registered credentials (the mobile number and password you used during registration).
4. Go to the Admit Card / Hall Ticket section on your dashboard.
5. Click download and save the PDF.
6. Print it clearly on A4 paper. Print two copies to be safe.

Tip: If the portal is slow, try again in a few hours. High traffic is common in the first hours after release. Always use the official website only.

Details to Check on Your CLAT 2027 Hall Ticket

As soon as you download the admit card, verify every detail carefully:

- Candidate name and roll number
- Date of birth and reservation category
- Photograph and signature
- Exam date, reporting time and exam timing
- Name and full address of the exam centre
- Exam day instructions

If you spot any mistake, contact the CLAT Consortium support team immediately using the contact details on the official website. Note that the exam centre generally cannot be changed once the hall ticket is issued.

Documents to Carry on CLAT 2027 Exam Day

The Consortium does not send admit cards by post, so a printout is your entry pass. Carry:

- Printed CLAT 2027 admit card
- Valid government photo ID (Aadhaar, passport, driving licence, voter ID or similar)
- Passport-size photograph (the same one used in your application)
- Transparent water bottle and the stationery permitted by the exam instructions

Check your admit card for the exact list of allowed and prohibited items, as it is the final authority.

CLAT 2027 Exam Day Tips

- Reach early. Arrive by the reporting time printed on your admit card, not at the exam start time.
- Visit the centre beforehand. Do a trial trip so you know the route, travel time and parking.
- Avoid prohibited items. Mobile phones, smartwatches, calculators and electronic devices are not permitted inside the exam hall.
- Manage time well. Read the passages carefully and avoid guessing blindly, since every wrong answer costs 0.25 marks.
- Stay calm. Light revision and good sleep the night before beat last-minute cramming.

What Happens After the CLAT 2027 Exam?

According to the tentative schedule, the provisional answer key is expected around 8–9 December 2026, followed by an objection window. The final answer key and results are expected in the third week of December 2026, after which counselling and seat allotment for the National Law Universities begin. These dates are tentative, so keep checking the official website.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

Q1. When will the CLAT 2027 admit card be released? It is expected around 20–22 November 2026, roughly 15 days before the 6 December exam. The Consortium confirms the exact date on its official website.

Q2. Where can I download the CLAT 2027 admit card? From the official website, consortiumofnlus.ac.in, by logging in to your candidate account.

Q3. Will the CLAT admit card be sent by post? No. You must download it online and carry a printout to the exam centre.

Q4. Can I make corrections in the CLAT 2027 admit card? You cannot edit it yourself. Report errors to the Consortium helpdesk right away.

Q5. Can I change my exam centre after the admit card is released? Generally no. The centre allotted on the hall ticket is final.

Q6. Is a colour printout compulsory? A clear, legible print is what matters. Make sure the photo, signature and details are readable.

Q7. What is the CLAT 2027 exam date and time? Sunday, 6 December 2026, from 2:00 PM to 4:00 PM.

Q8. What if I cannot download the admit card? Check your login details, try a different browser or device, and wait if the site is congested. If the problem continues, contact the CLAT helpline.

Final Words

The CLAT 2027 admit card marks the last big step before the exam. Download it as soon as it is released, verify every detail, keep multiple printouts and focus the remaining days on revision and mock tests. Bookmark this page for updates, and good luck for 6 December!