BLOGS

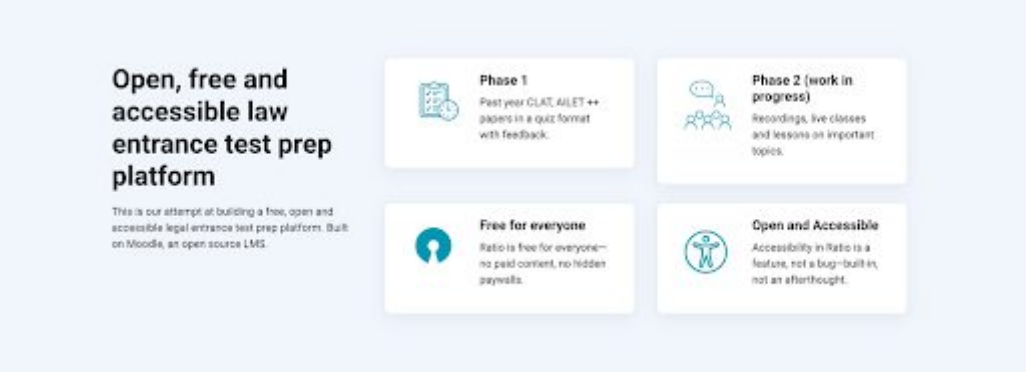

Ratio: A Free Law Entrance Test Prep Platform

Ruchika Mohapatra · 03 Sep 2025

Ratio (goratio.in) is a free and open law entrance test prep platform. It is currently focused on CLAT and AILET prep.

Paid prep will always exist and it may serve many well. However, we felt there is a need for a free, open and high quality law entrance test prep platform. Ratio is being built to meet that need.

The platform seeks to fill in the same role which Khan Academy played as a free prep resource for LSAT and to that end, Ratio will be built out to include written and video lessons as well.

Currently, on Ratio, students can solve past year papers of CLAT and AILET and obtain feedback for each wrong and correct answer to sharpen the skills necessary for these tests. The website also has a Forum where students can discuss the papers and help each other prep.

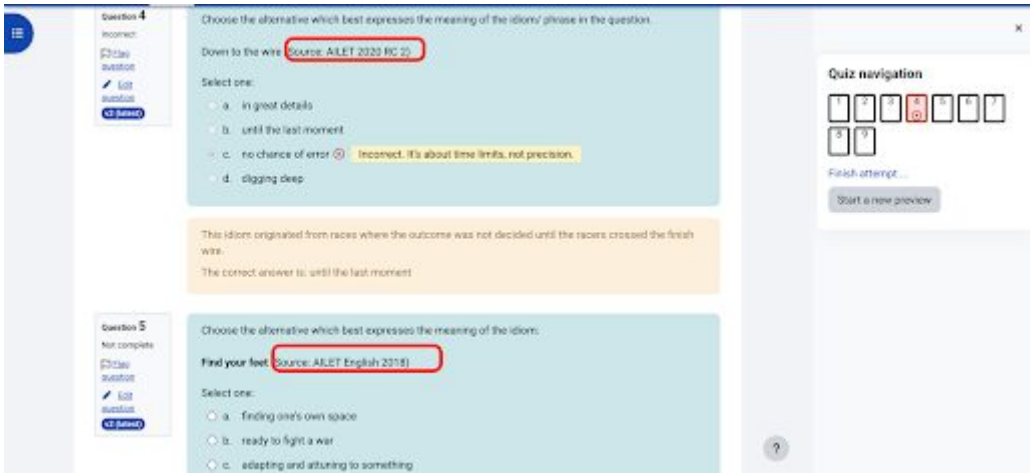

In the future, Ratio will also have written and video lessons to cover different types of questions /topics from past year papers. To make it easier to drill down to specific types of questions, we are in the process of making workbooks (collections of questions of a specific type) on the platform and a course on search by topics (where students can attempt questions on a particular topic across past year papers).

Workbooks

Search by topic: See below image of a quiz on Idioms. A user can attempt all questions in past year papers on the topic “Idioms”.

The platform is a work in progress due to which any and all feedback is welcome!

Check out the official website here!